

Christos Anastasiou

---

He was born in 1974 in Athens, Greece. He studied History and Archaeology at the University of Athens and he is a PhD candidate in Contemporary Greek History at the same University. His research interests include Greek Foreign and Financial Policy during interwar and postwar periods.

He works since 2002 as research associate at the Historical Archive of the “Konstantinos G. Karamanlis” Foundation. He has participated since 2004 in all the digitalization, data processing and promotion projects of the Foundation’s archives, subsidized by the Ministry of Culture’s Entrepreneurial Programme “The Information Society”. He has especially undertaken the documentation and digitalization process of the Video Collection and contributed to the documentation of the Photographic Collections in Konstantinos Karamanlis and Anastassios Kanellopoulos Archives.