

Emmanuel Georgoudakis

Emmanuel Georgoudakis is Head of the Acquisition Department at HeNAA.

He holds BA and MA degrees in Literature and Art History. He has been working on historical archives and libraries of all kinds (from typical medieval and church archives and manuscripts to recent photographic and film archives) for more than 18 years as associate of various research Institutes (CFNB/MIET, NRI/EIE) in Greece as well abroad, being specialized in the last 6 years in the audiovisual archives (cataloguing, digitization, documentation) at ERT SA (Greek National TV) and HeNAA. He has been also participating in projects of various Institutes, Libraries and Museums combining the use of modern research technology with methodology of old archives, photographic archives, archaeology and other cultural issues.