

Nathan Salsburg

Nathan Salsburg is an archivist, producer, and writer based in Louisville, Kentucky. He has worked for the Alan Lomax Archive since 2000, for which he currently serves in the capacities of production manager, photo and video archivist, and general digital catalog editor. Since 2006 he has produced and hosted "Root Hog Or Die," a vernacular music program on New York City's East Village Radio , and he is curator of the Twos & Fews recording imprint, a collaboration with Chicago's Drag City record label. Salsburg also maintains an index of on-line vernacular music resources at his blog, roothogordie.wordpress.com, and contributes occasional music writing to the Louisville Eccentric Observer and the Other Music weekly update.