

Thram, Diane

Thram, Diane (d.thram@ru.ac.za) PhD Ethnomusicology, Indiana U (1999), is Director of the International Library of African Music (ILAM) and Associate Professor and Coordinator of the Rhodes University Ethnomusicology Programme. She came to Rhodes University in 1999 to develop the Ethnomusicology Programme for ILAM and the Rhodes University Music Department. Ethnomusicology is offered as an undergraduate major and at post-graduate level. She has published articles and book chapters from her research on the therapeutic efficacy of music in the indigenous religions of the Shona and Xhosa in Southern Africa and on media control in Zimbabwe. Her goal, beyond fund-raising to accomplish proper cataloguing, preservation, access, and dissemination of ILAM's holdings, is to develop educational materials and repatriate the music in the Hugh Tracey Collection to the communities of its origin.
